TO-DAY'S ELECTIONS.

To-day the students have the opportunity to elect the men who will look after their affairs for the ensuing year, and it may be well to say a few words in connection with this election.

If we are to believe all that we hear, then Tammany Hall "has nothing on" a certain Faculty for "fixing" things. It is a rather hard thing to credit that men who are living practically speaking under the same roof, quaffing their education from the same fountain of knowledge, and who have been fellow students for three years or so should enter into a contest for a seat on the Students' Council with such vindictiveness as is alleged in the present election. We have been at McGill remarkably free from these "back door" methods in our elections, and it is a matter of regret that we should receive our baptism of shock deeds now. The Daily advises that those responsible for this work cease it, for from information received some very unpleasant consequences are in order if they are caught at it.

Last year, it will be remembered, that there was a man who had attended McGill for five years, and yet was unable to name the representative from his faculty on the Students' Council. We have not heard of any such cases this year, but there are many men, especially those who are in their first year, who are not familiar with the workings of the Council, and the objects which are behind its organization. For these, as well as for others, we think that the following brief resume may be of benefit.

The Students' Council is the executive council of the Students' Society, a body which embraces in its membership all undergraduates of the University who have paid the universal fee for the current session. The Students' Council is representative of the Students' Society, and should the latter so desire it, the constitution may be amended by a two-thirds vote at a general meeting. The Students' Council is the only recognized medium between students and University authorities and the general public. Its business is to administer all the business of the Students' Society, to strive to promote social life and academic unity among the students, and to control all funds contributed by the general body of students to any undergraduate enterprise. The Executive Council has also power to act as a court before which any students may be called to account for a misdemeanor, though this class of the constitution is rarely put into force. It appoints a salaried secretary to attend to the routine management of its affairs. The salaried secretary should be regarded by each and every student as the servant of the Society to which he belongs, and no one should be at all backward in applying to him for information should he so desire. The management and control of the McGill Daily are by constitution vested in the Executive Council. These are the duties which the Students' Council fulfills.

A word now as to the composition of the Council. It is on this point that so many appear to be in doubt. The Council is composed of ten members, as follows: The president of the Students' Society, who acts as chairman; the president of the McGill Union; the presidents of the Football, Hockey and Track Clubs, and of the Athletic Association, each of whom is elected in March, and holds office for a year from the following first day of July; one representative from each of the four Faculties of the University, to be elected by the students of such Faculty from the junior class thereof between November 20 and December 10, to take office on the following first day of January. The McGill Daily has no representative on the Students' Council other than the person whom it (the Council) may care to select from among its (the Council's) members to serve as the president of this newspaper.

Meetings of the Students' Society, at which the president presides as chairman, are held twice a year, the annual meeting on the third Wednesday in October, and the semi-annual meeting on the third Wednesday in March. Many students know only that they secure a release from lecture periods upon these two occasions, while a small proportion of the undergraduate body have interest enough in the operations of their Society to attend the meetings. At the annual meeting of the financial statement of the Society for the financial year ending on the previous June 30th is read and presented for adoption. At the semi-annual meeting the reports of the various committees for the current financial year are presented for adoption.

All clubs or societies to which all students contribute are constituted regular committees of the Students' Society, while any other clubs or societies which affiliate themselves with the Council and place their funds under its control are rated as special committees.

The funds of the Students' Society are chiefly derived from the annual fee of ten dollars, known as the universal fee, which is exacted at the commencement of the session. This provides for membership in the various undergraduate organizations, membership in the McGill Union, the centre of all undergraduate activity, and subscription to the McGill Daily. Those athletic and other activities, such as the Football, Hockey and Track Clubs, and the McGill Daily, which are revenue-producing, also contribute towards the upkeep of grounds for athletics, the granting of funds to different athletic clubs, the salary of the secretary, and the support of other student enterprises. Of the universal fee of ten dollars, the sum of six dollars is turned over to the Students' Council; the sum of three dollars to the McGill Union and the sum of one dollar to the Undergraduate Societies of the respective Faculties.

It seems hardly necessary for us to add that the men who are elected to an office on this Council should be the very best men in the bodies which they represent. Talk before election is cheap; actions after attaining an office are what count. Vote for the man who YOU think will fill the position better than any other else.

Wm. McAlman, coach of the Grinnell team, and formerly end on the great Minnesota team of 1913, has resigned his position at the Iowa school, and will go into business permanently.

Yale's expenditure in coaching for last year's football came up to $12,000. The suggestion that all intercollegiate athletics be suspended until a remedy can be introduced is being seriously considered.

IMPERIAL THEATRE.

Marguerite Clark will be the centre of attraction at the Imperial for the first three days of this week. Her appearance on the screen in any vehicle has always been greeted with enthusiasm, yet she has not yet appeared in so charming and novel a role as in "Miss George Washington" or "The Girl Who Couldn't Tell the Truth," the picture which is being shown to-day. The name Miss George Washington, is bestowed upon her by her friends at a young ladies' school who know her best and realize that she can outstrip even her friend Alice in the matter of concealing falsehoods. Her poor deluded school teacher sincerely believes that she has never told a lie, and is pleased when she is presented with a Truth Medal of the George Washington Truth Society. The play chiefly concerns the results of a lie concocted by Miss Clark, when her friend Alice and herself are caught in a compromising yet entirely innocent situation in a room in an hotel with a strange man. Alice's parents are introduced to Miss Clark and the stranger as Mr. and Mrs. Gardner, and when they meet later at Alice's house and have to stay the night, the most humorous situations develop in the most healthy way, and still later when "Mrs. Gardner's" fiancé arrives the situation becomes far more complicated and humorous. The photoplay is one of the most delightful and simple comedies that have been shown this season. Other items on the programme include the Mutt and Jeff Cartoons, the latest pictures from the Front, and Earle Williams' new adventure in the Scarlet Runner is "The Jacobean House." Willis Flanagan, the Irish tenor, will sing Tosca's "Good-bye," to-day and tomorrow.

The queenly star of the stage and screen, Kitty Gordon, makes her first appearance in the bigger photoplays in "Her Maternal Rights," which will be shown for four days commencing Wednesday. Kitty, as she is known the world over, has a role of the most difficult dramatic interpretation, which betrays her ability, and then, too, she has charming gowns to wear.

STUDENTS AND GRADUATES REWARDED.

are proud to think that so many of their colleagues and students are upholding the traditions of McGill, which has figured gloriously in various fields of work at the front ever since the war began. And so in the name of the Faculty, as I have said, I wish you all the success your heart longs for, as regards both cordial relations in the unit to which you belong and its record in action. With you are joined, in our thought, your officers and your men. May you all return safe and with much honour, which I am sure, the McGill Battery will richly deserve. Such is the ardent hope and prayer of the Faculty of Arts as imperfectly expressed by "CHAS. E. MOYSE, "Dean."

could do anything with the portion of the trench I was on we had to drain off several inches of water, so you know what that was like. The barbed wire fences were put up by numbers, and if every man knew his job and stuck to it it wasn't so bad; but if anyone went wrong—well you know barbed wire. We had three of the showers this country loves so well to make the day as complete a success as possible. You see the sun shining as if it was under camp orders, and you leave your greatcoat behind. In five minutes you may be soaked, and the sun will be as cheerful as ever in another five.

The Battalion marched from Bramshott to Witley, where we are at present, on the fourth. We are now in "A" line. Most of the fellows prefer this camp to the other. I was in Haslemere one afternoon while we were stationed at Bramshott. At present the section is picking up many new rules about the sending and receiving of messages. They are much more simple than the old ones. We have also had the use of new lamps and phones, far ahead of the old ones in many ways. A dozen disks are part of our new equipment, and are quite popular, although they are quite slower than flags, yet they are much more practical.

The Company Signallers have really been organized. A Corporal from Headquarters' section has been placed in charge of the signallers of each of the four companies. I am the most unfortunate of the unlucky four. I was in Haslemere one afternoon while we were stationed at Bramshott. At present the section is picking up many new rules about the sending and receiving of messages. They are much more simple than the old ones. We have also had the use of new lamps and phones, far ahead of the old ones in many ways. A dozen disks are part of our new equipment, and are quite popular, although they are quite slower than flags, yet they are much more practical.

The company signallers are getting along fairly well now, but they were started far too late. The headquarters section doesn't know all it ought to about phones and line laying, after eight months, so what is going to become of the company's signallers? I have fourteen in "A" company at present. The four companies are combined for instruction. They are given Morse flags, buzzer, disks and lamps. Some of them can read fairly well now.

MACDONALD WINS BASKETBALL GAME.

commencement of the second half was still swift but steady. Gradually, however, Macdonald's team showed its superiority, and carried off the honors by a score of 37-25.
The play of the second teams was not to be compared with that of the first teams in respect to speed and accuracy, though at times good combination was evident. Both sides did their share of fouling, and no goals at all were made until near the end of the first half, and when the whistle blew the score stood 4-1 in Macdonald's favor. During the second half both teams steadied down, and the playing was faster and better. The R. V. C. girls proved a match for their opponents, and kept the score even, but they were not able to gain the ground lost in the first half. Macdonald won by a final score of 12-8.

Miss Cartwright, of the R. V. C., and Miss Wren of Macdonald, kindly acted as referees. The teams were as follows:
First Teams.
Macdonald—Forwards, I. Cameron, J. Binning, Wings, G. Revel, E. Woodhouse, Centre, J. Rutherford; Guards, E. Dickson, R. Reynolds, R. V. C.—Forwards, E. Abbott, R. Goodwin; Wings, G. Craig, Q. Savage; Centre, M. Spier; Guards, D. Hicks, W. Wyatt.

Lieut. Don. H. Macfarlane Writes of Fellow-Students on Fir- ing Line.

Lieut. Don. H. Macfarlane, Sci. '17, formerly military editor of McGill Daily, writes to a member of the editorial staff that he is now with the First Canadian Divisional Signal Company, attached to Headquarters of the First Canadian Division, a position which is held in the Second Canadian Division by another McGill student and classmate of Lieut. Macfarlane, Lieut. M. R. McCracken. Lieut. McCracken won the Military Medal while in the ranks.

Lieut. Macfarlane gives news of several other McGill students who are making good at the front. Among those mentioned are Lieut. St. C. W. Sci. '17, who is signalling officer of the 87th Grenadier Guards of Canada; Ken. Jencks, is quartermaster sergeant of the 27th Battery, C.F.A.; Gordon Spohn, Med. PLATFORMS OF CANDIDATES IN TO-DAY'S FIGHT.

Platform: "I believe that the policy of the Students' Council for the year to come should be one of careful management, financially. With the necessarily decreasing number of students owing to the war, there will be a natural decrease, yearly, in the receipts. For that reason, a very comfortable balance should exist at the end of the year. In preparation for the inevitable decreases in revenue to follow, I do not, however, believe that activities which show sufficient signs of life should be 'starved' out because of insufficient funds from the Council. I do advocate a very stringent management of such clubs, in order to prevent the expenditure of money without any returning good to the University.

As to the Campus rink, there is need of a more liberal policy. Certainly, there appears to be no reason why it should not gain a deserved popularity from the student body, with reasonable care and support. If the students of Applied Science do me the honor of placing me in this responsible position, I assure them that all my efforts will be used to see that they are represented to the best of my ability, provided, of course, that, in so doing, I am also performing my office primarily in the interests of the entire University.

Donald G. Dunbar.

Age—23.
Former School—New Glasgow High School.
Activities at McGill—Member of hockey team.
Activities at McGill—Member of the Union House Committee; Secretary of the Electric Club; Member of the Rifle Club, 1914.

Platform: "Under the conditions prevailing at McGill this year, I believe that the policy of the Students' Council should be one of economy, but also I feel that the students should not be deprived of a fair return from the money that they pay. In short, I claim that, if the assets and liabilities balance for the year, or show a small profit, then the Council may be said to have done its duty toward those whom it represents.

I believe that the patronage of the Campus rink should be encouraged in every way possible, and I feel that, by judicious expenditure, it could be made so attractive that it would become a source of profit instead of loss.

I do not favor the abolition of the annual class 'scrap' between the first and second years, for I feel that it could be controlled so that it would not be obnoxious to the University authorities, and would cause no such trouble as occurred this year.

If I have the honor of being elected, I assure the Science students that I will endeavor to further their interests to the best of my ability."

Platform: "If elected, I will do all in my power to further the mutual interest of the students of the University."

W. P. Hughes.

Up to the time of going to press this morning, no statement had been received from W. P. Hughes, candidate in Law.

Capt. W. N. Gilmour.

"Lieut. William Norman Gilmour, M.D., R.A.M.C. He gallantly dressed a wounded man lying in No Man's Land, and finally brought him in with great courage under very heavy fire." The foregoing official announcement appeared in the London, Eng. Times of November 15, and was included in a long list of officers and warrant officers decorated by King George with the Military Cross in recognition of their gallantry and devotion to duty on the field. Lieut. Gilmour, who was afterwards raised to the rank of Captain, is a graduate of McGill of the class of Med. '10, and has seen much heavy fighting on the Somme in the capacity of medical officer of the 16th Royal Scots, one of the crack British regiments, which is upholding the honor of England in this great war.

Captain Gilmour enlisted originally in South Africa, whither he went at the outbreak of war from Australia. Capt. Gilmour became a trooper in the South African cavalry under General Botha, and served under him in the campaign against the German possessions. After undergoing many hardships, Capt. Gilmour returned to England, and there took out a commission in the Royal Army Medical Corps. His home is in Brockville, Ont.

MAJOR REV. F. G. SCOTT.

Major Scott, a past student of McGill, and now chief chaplain of the First Canadian Division, has just published "In the Battle Silences," a collection of war poems. Rev. Canon Scott has been awarded the C.M.G., and one of his sons, Lieut. H. H. Scott, Law '14, was killed in the taking of Regina trench.

THE WEEK IN REVIEW

Interest during the week just closed has centred in the forthcoming elections of Faculty representatives to the Students' Council, and in the opening practices of the senior hockey squad, which this year, as usual, will be represented in the City Hockey League. McGill looks to have the strongest team in some years, and followers of the winter sport at the University are enthusiastic regarding the prospects for the season.

The Theological Students' Society has been busy during the week. On Monday the Society moved in favour of a ballot regarding amalgamation with the Students' Society of the University, and the ballot taken on Wednesday resulted in favour of amalgamation. The Society also passed a resolution to be presented to Premier Gouin, calling for total prohibition in the province.

R. M. Wilson, Sc. '99, addressed the Electric Club in the Engineering Building on Tuesday evening on the Cedar Rapids Power Development scheme. Mr. Wilson is electrical engineer for the Cedar Rapids Manufacturing and Power Company, and while at college was the first president of the Electric Club.

The Arts Freshmen entertained the Sophomores at a smoker in the Union on Wednesday evening. Practically the entire programme was provided by students.

Past students of the University who hail from the Canadian West will learn with interest of the disbanding of the Western Club, a measure decided upon at an executive meeting held in the Union on Wednesday evening. The club will remain disbanded for the duration of the war, or until such time as there are sufficient Westerners in attendance at the University to warrant its activities being resumed.

Miss Constance Collier addressed the Delta Sigma Society on Tuesday afternoon on "Women in Shakespeare."

The 244th Battalion team defeated the McGill Intermediates at water polo in a scheduled game at the Central Y. M. C. A. on Thursday night. J. E. McLeod, Sc. '17, was elected president of the Provincial Basketball League at a meeting on Thursday night, while J. W. Rooney, Den. '18, was elected president of the Junior Hockey Association of Canada on Wednesday.

Dr. C. F. Martin addressed the Medical Society on Friday evening.

called for England with his brother, Dr. G. O. Scott, to join the Royal Army Medical Corps. He has been in France for some months, attached to a British unit. Lieut. Scott played football and hockey at McGill, and is a relative of Dr. C. K. Church, Med. '16, and H. B. Church, Med. '17.

With Indian Artillery.

Capt. A. E. Lundon, Med. '14, during 1915 was with the Indian cavalry. In 1916 he was transferred to the Indian Royal Horse Artillery, of which unit he is the Medical Officer. In a letter to his father, who had advised him to try and get a transfer into a general hospital, he writes:

"About your suggestion to go into a hospital now, I hope you will think ill of me, but there are very few in France who would not give a lot to be with a horse artillery brigade during the latter part of this war, or even now; there are only four other Medical Officers in France with my job, and when this war is near its finish the Horse Artillery and cavalry will be the first to cross the Rhine. It is more than my wildest dreams to be in such a show, and would you, if you were my age, and in my place, feel like going into a hospital just when nearly on the verge of helping to make history? When the artillery really works as artillery, history will be made every hour, and what satisfaction afterwards when reading the history of the Great War, to read about things that have been done by my old Brigade—how the Chestnut Troop galloped into such a village, and with open sights moved down the Huns, and how 'Q' Battery crossed the Rhine—I think it too great a thing to miss, and I prefer to remain with the I. R. H. A., as their big day is coming, and they are the best in the Empire!"
